Eternal Fitness of Things.

It has been interesting to watch the gradual way in which woman's dress has "lived up" to the big sleeves, whose advent two years ago was a startling innovation. Capes promptly succeeded jackets when the fashion became pronounced, modistes and arbiters realizing that it was asking too much of the average jacket sleeve to be responsible for the hiding of such a mass of dress sleeve.

The skirts were the next parts of the costume to adapt themselves to width and voluminousness a necessary concession, as the bell skirt, with the balloon sleeves, was little short of grotesque. Bonnets then defied their height and took unto themselves width, preserving the equilibrium of the outfit, and the crush collars and belts added "ears" and "wings" to their effect.

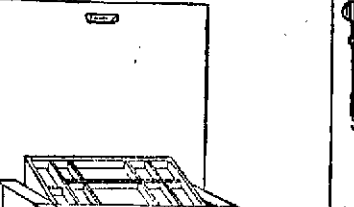

Shoes have remained pointed, though they should have flared, but parasols have grown fluff and flat to partake of the general trend of belongings. Finally the motif has entered bouquets. The very newest thing at the florists' are the butterfly bouquets, wide, shallow affairs, with spreading bows or wings of lilies, or what you will, and a center of some other flower. Roses are effective flanked with lilies, daffodils, with white sweet peas or violets bunched on each side of an Easter lily, camellia or light hued rose. Loops of ribbon fall from the center of these butterfly bunches, which bid fair to temporarily at least dethrone the popular shower bouquet.—New York Times.

Camilla Collet.

Camilla Collet, the eminent Scandinavian writer who has just died, was a strong advocate of equal rights for women. It is said that no private person in Scandinavia and northern Europe, with the exception of Friedrich Bremer, has done so much to raise the respect for the northern woman and her personality. Camilla was the daughter of one of Norway's most remarkable men, the leader of the early Norwegian independence movement and sister to the poet Henrik Wergeland. In 1841 she married the prominent Norwegian jurist, P. J. Collet, and ten years later became a widow. In 1855 her novel, "The Ant-Man's Daughters," made her famous. Like all her succeeding works, it advocated enlarged opportunities for women. It made a great sensation.

Both Ibsen and Tolstoi declare that they were indebted to her for many ideas and suggestions. From a purely literary point of view, her works are highly praised. The esteem in which the old author was held was shown by the great demonstration in Christiania two years ago on her eightieth birthday. In this festival it is said that a thousand women, representing every nationality, took part, and representatives from many of the learned, literary and political societies of Europe attended. Few women not of royal blood have ever been the object of so cosmopolitan a celebration. Mme. Collet leaves four sons, all prominent in Norwegian affairs.

A Convenient Work Table.

A pretty work table, with a compartment top, had a deep bag of old gold denim attached to its lower, hollow drawer.

These tables come in plain wood and can be enameled or stained to match any furnishings.

Life Himself In.

In his reminiscences of the Crimea, in 1854, General Sir Evelyn Wood tells a story of a fighting general who, during a conflict, was seen wherever bullets fell most thickly. When not visible, his voice was heard encouraging his men with "a vocabulary borrowed from the army in Flanders," which Sir Evelyn says will not bear repetition. "Years after he was appointed to the Aldershot command, and her majesty happened to ask, 'Has the new general yet taken up his command?' 'Yes, your majesty,' was the apt reply; 'he swore himself in yesterday.'"

Lecland moss is native to the northern parts of all continents. It is most abundant, however, in Iceland, whence its name has been obtained. Formerly in high repute in medicine, it is now very highly regarded.

Some Phrisian women are wearing hand painted gowns. One in which a well known leader of fashion in that city appeared was a dull white silk and had over the flaring skirt large painted bushes loaded with flowers.

Florence Nightingale Seventy-Five.

On the 15th day of May Florence Nightingale celebrates her seventy-fifth birthday—as great a woman and as great a public benefactor and as much of a heroine as she was 40 years ago, when she went forth from her comfortable home in England, not as a mere nurse to attend to the wants of the wounded and dying British soldiers in the Crimea, but as a fearless organizer of a great field hospital system, which the British war office authorities, staff officers and generals had looked upon as a mere matter of afterthought in the preliminary arrangements of one of the most difficult campaigns in the history of the civilized world, writes Fitz Roy Gardner in a sketch of "Florence Nightingale at Seventy-five" in The Ladies' Home Journal.

No one had thought of the physical sufferings which would have to be undergone by the brave soldiers who were sent out with the prospect of a long winter campaign before them, without adequate hospital arrangements having been made. When the great mistake was realized, it was a woman who came forward to rectify the terrible blunder, and it may easily be imagined that obstacles were thrown in her way. But public opinion was soon aroused, and when Miss Florence Nightingale arrived at the Crimea with her band of nurses she had the whole British people at her back.

Mme. Rejane's Veil.

It is all very well to talk of the unfailing chin of the Parisienne, but I think the purple veil Mme. Rejane wore in the street here recently was simply hideous. The worst of it is that several women have already adopted it and are going about looking as if they were in the last stages of jaundice because of it, all the while flatter themselves that they are being very French and extremely fashionable. There is one fashion, however, which Mme. Rejane, in common with the rest of her country women, possesses which ought to be adopted by every American woman. It is the habit of wearing properly cared for boots and irreproachable skirt bindings. An American dresses from the head down, the Parisienne from the foot up.—Washington Post.

German Degree to a Woman.

Miss Grace Chisholm, an English woman, has just taken the degree of philosophy at the University of Göttingen, with the express permission of the Prussian minister of education. This is the first degree ever taken by a woman at Göttingen since it became a university. The emperor has hitherto opposed the admission of ladies to the imperial universities, and it is supposed that the conferring of the degree upon Miss Chisholm indicates a change of policy in regard to the higher education of women.—Berlin Dispatch.

CHEMICAL ANALYSIS

and a careful microscopic examination of the urine, is a valuable aid in determining the nature of many chronic diseases, such as diabetes, gout, rheumatism, etc. These aids make it possible to treat such diseases successfully.

Nervous Debility, whether resulting from over-study, worry, disappointment, or from exhausting drains upon the system caused by precocious secret habits contracted in youth, through ignorance of their ruinous consequences, is successfully managed, through correspondence, the necessary medicines being sent by mail or express.

Write for question blank or descriptive report, send sample of urine for analysis and enclose 10 cents for postage on treatise, which contains reproduced photographs and full names and addresses of vast numbers of people who have been cured in this way. RINGING RESOLUTIONS.

The Memphis Conference, composed principally of delegates from the South and West, unanimously adopted the following resolutions:

"Silver and gold coin have in all ages constituted the money of the world, were the money of the fathers of the Republic, the money of history and of the constitution.

"The universal experience of mankind has demonstrated that the joint use of both silver and gold coin as money constitutes the most stable, standard of value, and that the toll amount of both metals is necessary as a medium of exchange.

"The demonetization of either metal money means an appreciation in the value of money, a fall in the price of commodities, a diminution of the profits of legitimate business, a continuing increase in the burden of debts, withdrawal of money from the channels of trade and industry where it no longer yields a safe and sure return, and its idle accumulation in the banks and in the great money centers of the country.

"There is no health or soundness in a financial system under which a hoarded dollar is productive of increase to its possessor while an invested dollar yields a constantly diminishing return, and under which fortunes are made by the accretions of idle capital or destroyed by a persistent fall in the price of commodities and a persistent dwindling in the margin of profits in almost every branch of useful industry.

"Such a system puts a premium upon sloth and a penalty upon industry and such a system is that which the criminal legislation of 1873 has imposed upon this country.

"The bimetallic standard of silver and gold has behind it the experience of ages and has been tested and approved by the enlightened and deliberate judgment of mankind. For a gold standard is a departure from the established policy of the civilized world with nothing to commend it but twenty-two years of depression and distress to the people and extraordinary accumulation of wealth in the hands of the few.

"The same facts bearing upon this question recognized and admitted by all candid men, whether advocates of bimetallicism or of the single gold standard among these is the fact that the very year that marked the change from the bimetallic to the single gold standard is the very year that marked the change from a condition of rising prices, large profits, general contentment and great prosperity, to a condition exactly the reverse.

"Under the operations of the beneficent law of bimetallicism a staple relation was maintained between the two metals in the most extreme changes in relative productions. From the earliest period of history up to 1873, the right of the debtor to choose whether he should pay his debts in silver or gold coin was always recognized. The subsequent policy has been to transfer this right to the creditor, thus tending to constantly increase the value of the debtor's metal and destroy the parity between them.

"Believing that it is absolutely necessary to reverse this iniquitous and ruinous policy we therefore resolve:

"That we favor the immediate restoration of silver to its former place as a full legal tender, standard money, equal with gold and the free and unlimited coinage of both silver and gold at the ratio of 16 to 1 and upon terms of exact equality.

"That while we should welcome the cooperation of other nations we believe the United States should not wait upon the cooperation of other Governments or the pleasure of creditors, but should themselves proceed to reverse the 'grinding process' that is destroying the prosperity of the people, and should lead by their example the Nations of the earth.

"That the rights of the American people, that the interests of American labor and the prosperity of American industry have a higher claim to the consideration of the people's lawmakers than the greed of foreign creditors or the avaricious demand by idle holders of idle capital. The right to regulate its own monetary system in the interests of its own people, is a right which no free government can barter, sell or surrender. This reserved right is a part of every bond, of every contract, and of every obligation. No creditor or claimant can set up a right that can take precedence over a nation's obligations to promote the welfare of the masses of its own people. This is a debt higher and more binding than all other debts, and one which is not only dishonest, but treasonable, to ignore.

"Under the financial policy that now prevails we see the land filled with idle and discontented workmen, and an ever-growing army of tramps, men whom lack of work and opportunity have made outcasts and beggars. At the other end we find a few thousand families own one-half the wealth of the country. The centralization of wealth has gone hand in hand with the spread of poverty. The pauper and the plutocrat are twin children of the same vicious and unholly system. The situation is full of menace to the liberties of the people and the life of the republic. The issue is enfranchisement or hopeless servitude. Whatever the power of money can do by debauchery and corruption to maintain its grasp on the lawmaking power will be done. We therefore appeal to the plain people of the land with perfect confidence in their patriotism and intelligence to arouse themselves to a full sense of the peril that confronts them, and defend the citadel of their liberties with a vigilance which shall neither slumber nor sleep."

These resolutions, the truth of which is not questioned, prove very conclusively that the delegates to the Memphis conference knew what ails the country, and were not afraid to announce the disease and prescribe the remedy.

KENTUCKY DEMOCRATS.

Two Murderers Suffer the Extreme Penalty.

AN INVESTIGATION LIKELY.

Forest Fires in Pennsylvania do Great Damage.

THE DEMOCRATS OF KENTUCKY.

The Nominations for Governor are Yet in Uncertainty.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 18.—It is still an open question who will win the Democratic nomination for Governor, but it is not an open question what the Democratic State Convention will do about free silver. Nearly half the delegates are either instructed to vote against free silver or are known to be opposed to it. Many others friendly to silver are individually and as representatives of the conventions which chose them opposed to the policy of making any declaration for free silver in the State platform. Neither General P. N. Hardin nor Cassius M. Clay has anything like enough instructed votes to win on the first ballot. There are 875 votes and 140 are necessary to a choice. One hundred and fourteen out of 110 counties give Hardin for Governor 203, Clay 201, Alfred 2. The un-instructed vote is 364. The counties not heard from have only 13 votes.

THE W. C. T. U. OF AMERICA.

Upheld by the Temperance Women of Great Britain.

LONDON, June 18.—There was a large and enthusiastic gathering at a meeting today in the City Temple of the British Women's Temperance Association. Miss Florence Balmage accused Miss Frances E. Willard, President of the W. C. T. U. of America of being an apostate for the lynchings in the southern part of the United States. Miss Willard made a spirited defense for herself and of the Union. A resolution was carried unanimously declaring that the Association emphatically believed that the American W. C. T. U. maintained toward the lynching question the same attitude as other Christian bodies, namely, that under no circumstances must human life be taken without process of law.

RACING STOCK FOR CALIFORNIA.

Some Fine Stables to Come West for the Bay District Winter Meeting.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18.—Thomas H. Williams, President of the California Jockey Club, returned this morning from his Eastern trip. He says the most prominent turfmen, including Dwyer, Lorillard, Forbes and Gedneys, voluntarily promised to send their horses to the Bay District track at the opening of the winter meeting in October. Williams is confident his track will secure the best horses and bookmakers. He predicts that Edward Corrigan, who will open an opposition track in the fall, will meet with but slight success, alleging that horsemen, bookmakers and the public all favor the California Jockey Club.

The Santa Cruz Festivities Conclude With a Murder.

SANTA CRUZ, June 18.—The authorities believe they have a strong case against Joe Rodriguez for the murder of William Benson on Water street on Sunday night. According to the statement of witnesses Benson, his brother and a friend were playing musical instruments. Rodriguez made a remark in Spanish about Benson's playing. Benson resented this. High words followed. Rodriguez then attacked Benson and the women fought. Rodriguez threw Benson down and beat him unmercifully. When Benson rose Rodriguez knocked him down with such force as to fracture Benson's skull, resulting in his death. Rodriguez served a term in Folsom and was also in the county jail for misdemeanors.

Notifies the Coroner of His Contemplated Suicide.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18.—The Coroner this morning received a note from an alleged victim of the failure of the People's Home Savings Bank, stating that he was about to commit suicide by jumping into the bay because his savings of five years had been lost, and his inability to secure employment and his hunger from going three days without food or shelter.

California Athletes.

CHICAGO, June 18.—A. E. North and his team of athletes from the University of California left last night for Denver, where they will compete on Saturday with the cranks of Colorado.

Extensive Forest Fires.

BRADFORD, Pa., June 18.—The forest fires in the vicinity of Rileville and Keshuqua are now confined to a stretch of territory eight miles long and three miles wide. Large embankments have been thrown up about Keshuqua, and it is believed the town is safe. Millions of feet of logs and lumber have been destroyed and hundreds of acres of standing timber west of this city. The sky is overhung by smoke, and fires appear to be raging in the woods in Sugar Run and Weeksport.

Unconstitutional Class Legislation.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., June 18.—In the Supreme Court today Justice Sherwood filed an opinion declaring unconstitutional the law forbidding the discharge of corporations of employees who refuse to sever their connection with a labor organization. The Court holds the law class-legislation. A non-union man could be discharged without notice and the law would not intervene, while a union man could not be discharged if his discharge was based on his connection with the union.

Employees Made Happy.

CLEVELAND, O., June 18.—The National Malleable Casting Company has notified their 900 employees that a general increase of 10 per cent will take effect immediately. At the big works of the Elberhard Manufacturing Company notices were also posted notifying their 1,000 employees of 10 per cent increase. There was great rejoicing among the men. It is understood that other big iron concerns of the city will follow the example set by the two firms named.

An Investigation Likely.

SAN JOSE, June 18.—Miss Lizzie L. Wilson handed in her resignation as teacher in the State Normal School today, saying she is unable to continue longer under Principal Childs. Mrs. Wilson has taught in the school for thirteen years. She is the fourth lady teacher who has resigned within the past few weeks for the same reason. It is probable an investigation will be held regarding the matter.

Two Murderers Suffer the Extreme Penalty.

ST. THOMAS, June 18.—John Henderson and W. B. Walter were hanged here today. John Henderson was the man for whose murder the two were hanged. The crime was committed December 11, 1894, the object being to realize upon an insurance which the uncle had placed on the life of the nephew.

A Call Issued for an Extra Session.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 18.—Governor Altgeld today called for a special session of the General Assembly to meet here July 18th to pass revenue laws to relieve the delinquency in the State Treasury and pass laws regarding sleeping car changes and regarding Justice Courts in Chicago.

A City Treasurer Departs.

OVADA, June 18.—City Treasurer Henry Polen, whose accounts are under investigation by his bondsmen, has suddenly and mysteriously disappeared. Until the investigation is completed nothing can be stated positively as to the condition of his office. He was under a bond of a million dollars.

President Cleveland Declines the Honor.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The Wilberforce University, the oldest institution in the country for the education of the negroes, a few days ago conferred the degree of LL.D. upon President Cleveland. The President has sent an autograph letter to President Mitchell of Wilberforce declining the honor.

THE MINT ROBBERY.

About three months ago a shortage was discovered in the Carson mint. Three men, have so far, been accused of being responsible for the shortage. Each and all are under bonds to answer before the United States Grand Jury to a charge of stealing bullion from the mint while in the employ of the Government, and each and all of them claim to be innocent of the charge. Conceding that the claim is well founded, it is to say the least, remarkable, that they made no attempt whatever at the preliminary examination to prove it. It is presumable that opportunity was given them by the Court Commissioner when acting in the capacity of an examining magistrate to explain away the charges against them, but they did not avail themselves of that privilege. One of the three who asserts his innocence and ability to prove it, being unable at the time to give the required bonds, went to jail, when if his statements are true, he could show that he was not guilty. The law does not contemplate the imprisonment of innocent persons and it seems wrong that they should be punished or inconvenienced in any way. Yet, there are three men accused of being implicated in robbing the mint, who say not a word to prove their innocence, but give bonds or go to jail until the Grand Jury meets.

SENATOR TILLMAN SAYS.

"They tell about the fifty-cent dollar for creditors, let us ring in their teeth the two-hundred-cent dollar for debtors. And Oh, wonderful to tell, these very savings banks presidents and directors present to the country the spectacle of pretending to object to a scheme of finance which would enable them to pay off their deposits in fifty-cent dollars."

CAPITAL NOTES.
Carson Mint Sauce—The Round-Up of the Aggressors—Four of Them in Bondage—The Result Remains Indefinite—Detectives Take a Rest—Henry's Bond—Mrs. Hartley—Incidents.

(Correspondence of the Journal.)

CARSON CITY, Nev., June 18, 1895.

The preliminary examination of W. J. Pickler, charged with stealing bullion from the Mint concluded proceedings in that line for the present, Johnny Jones, Henry and Pickler, the alleged culprits here, having been successfully rounded up by United States District Attorney Jones and placed under bonds, and Henry Piper at Berkeley, Cal. No definite suspicions are as yet made public against the other employees and officials of the Mint; therefore, all may be said to be quiet on the Carson just now, although, as mentioned in a recent letter, a solid rumor prevails of another and richer bullion deposit being traced to concealment, and soon to be publicly brought out as a lively sensational development in the history of the Mint investigation.

Pickler filed his bond last evening in the sum of $1,000, with Otto Schulz, John Meyers and Ed Burlington as sureties. Henry's $15,000 bond is not completed, by reason of the non-acceptance of Mrs. Barnes, his mother-in-law, but that difficulty is obviated, and the full bond will be filed to-morrow morning.

When Judge Sawyer of the United States District Court returns from San Francisco he is expected to draw a Grand Jury, before whom will be presented these cases for consideration, and if they find a true bill of indictment in either case it will come before the next term of Court.

Detective Grant, who has been ardently officiating in Carson since the commencement of the Mint trouble, left for his home in Chicago last evening. His services having been secret, nobody except himself knows as to what particular benefit he has been. But he was always around at bullion searching and any sideshows and official investigations in or out of Court, evidently trying to make himself useful as well as ornamental. He is an intelligent, pleasant gentleman, and will be missed from daily and evening circles of the Arlington office and sidewalk. Detective Harris, who figured quite conspicuously and left early in the engagement on a still hunt after Henry, is still hunting, probably, down in Mexico, among the dark-eyed señoritas, and will get around here hot on Henry's trail in Court time.

Ernest Harris has arrived and taken the position as Deposit Melter in the Mint, vacated by the arrest of Pickler. He served for many months faithfully and well in that department, and, as before remarked, should have been retained. But it's all right now, and may induce former depositors to renew their lost confidence in the Carson Mint.

Mrs. Hartley, who arrived at the State Prison yesterday, was well received and suitably cared for. Warden Henderson says she has one good room for general occupancy, with her baby boy, and also the use of a vacant room adjoining a suite of rooms, so to speak. She appears quiet and resigned, and disposed to make the best of her situation, hopeful of not having to stay there long.

Henry has been described as having a sort of sharp, squeaky voice. That's not so; it's a hoarse soprano.
An ingenious and considerate Carson genius has invented a side-saddle for the bicycle, but the girls won't have it. They reject it with scorn and contempt.

I. O. O. F. GRAND LODGE.

Officers Elected for the Ensuing Year.
The Twenty-ninth session of the Grand Lodge of I. O. O. F. of Nevada met at Wadsworth yesterday. Twenty-five Subordinate Lodges were represented and the attendance was large. The people of Wadsworth treated the members royally. The town is at its best, every garden being a bed of roses.

The following Grand officers were elected for the ensuing year: Grand Master, Edgar Reinhardt of Elko; Deputy Grand Master, Andrew Maute of Belmont; Grand Warden, Daniel Kitzmayer of Carson; Grand Secretary, L. Guggenheim of Virginia City; Grand Treasurer, J. J. Becker of Reno; Grand Representative to the Sovereign Lodge, F. M. Huffaker of Virginia City; Grand Trustees, Richard Kirman, William Pennington and A. D. Lamare.
The session was mainly devoted to business concerning the welfare of the order, which the reports show is in a healthy condition, notwithstanding the business depression.

A Sensible Arrangement.

Frank Porter and deputy are busy arranging and classifying the legal papers in the Clerk's office. They are assorting the papers in different suits, and matters connected with the Court, such as estates, probate, etc., and placing them in large Congress envelopes, which are numbered and marked with the title, so that they can be readily found. It will be a great improvement and convenience to attorneys and others looking up records.

Dr. Stubbs Meets With an Accident.

President Stubbs met with a painful accident on Monday that will confine him to his house for several days. He mounted a horse at R. W. Parry's stable, and the animal turned suddenly and fell catching Dr. Stubbs' leg in such a way as to seriously bruise it. In consequence of the accident he has been compelled to cancel dates at Austin and Sparks.

SLANG OF THE BICYCLE RIDERS.

What "Your Lamp Is Out" and "He Has Punctured His Tire" Indicate.

As was naturally to be expected, with 20,000 men and women riding bicycles daily in Oakland and San Francisco, and fraternizing to an extent that is general, a bicycle slang has sprung up which will be constantly enlarged.

A youth was talking boastfully of some deeds of his in the presence of a group of young men and women who were resting on their wheels at the Park. He had evidently not rehearsed his story sufficiently, and was plainly befogged as to his geography and chronology. He stopped short, never to resume that story again, when one of the young ladies quietly remarked: "Freddie, your lamp is out."

Being cyclists all, the point was appreciated, and Freddie was squelched. "Scorching" is the term that indicates the making of very fast time. The suggestion is that the roadway is being fairly burned by the rapidly flying wheel. Hence a young man who is traveling through life at a very rapid gait is called a "scorcher," and an especially jovial or hilarious gathering is referred to as a "scorching good time."

"He has punctured his tire" is a connotation to the generally understood expression, "He's off his trolley," and means that some person is acting in an extravagant, unreasonable or foolish manner. A cyclist who is weary or exhausted and desires to stop by the roadside for refreshments remarks to his companion, "Let us stop here and pump up," "pumping up" being the process of renewing the air in the pneumatic tire.

One of the delights of cycling is coasting down long hills. No effort is required other than to preserve an equilibrium. Hence a person with whom the affairs of this world are running very smoothly is referred to as "coasting." "Life is one continuous coast with him," remarked a tired cyclist as he stood with his wheel on the side of a Park drive and watched a young man who is trying to spend $10,000 a year spin by on a silver-mounted wheel. When young men are together the term "bloomer" is used as applying to any member of the fair sex. "Here comes my bloomer," "He's out every morning for a spin with his bloomer." "His bloomer gave him the shake," or "Here's to the bloomers, bless 'em," are sample expressions heard at any of the hundred roadside resorts where the cyclist stops to allow his wheel to cool off.

A policeman is known among the fly young wheelmen as "a header," a term indicating the danger that lurks in the bluecoat for the cyclist. It is a reminiscence of the days of the high wheel, when a common and oftentimes serious accident was the "header" or dive over the wheel. The cyclometer, a little device for registering the distance traveled, is called a "licker."—Examiner.

Justice Court.

Judge Linn had a lively afternoon yesterday in trying the case of the State of Nevada against Edward Lemieux, charged by Joseph Lachman with assault and battery. It seems that Lemieux and Lachman were racing with their express wagons to get a favorite stand at the depot in time for the morning train Monday. Lemieux got there first, and Joe very nearly crashed into the former's team, words passed and Joe applied an epithet to Lemieux and the latter applied his whip to Joe, hence the squabble. Joe felt deeply aggrieved and concluded to settle the matter before a jury. The trial attracted quite a crowd and created considerable amusement. At about 4 o'clock the jury retired and in fifteen minutes returned a verdict of not guilty. Joe is not discouraged, however, and is thinking of carrying the case through all the higher courts, claiming that he is going to have satisfaction.

Bills Allowed

The following bills against Washoe county were considered and ordered paid at the Commissioner's meeting Monday:
W. P. McLaughlin, supplies, $9 40
Peter Burke, jail work, 78 30
H. P. Krause, supplies, 5 00
Archibald Hill, jail work, 10 50
J. F. Aitken, hauling, 20 50

Twentieth Century Club.

The closing meeting of the Twentieth Century Club (social day) will be held next Friday afternoon. A special election of officers for the ensuing year will be held at 3 o'clock. Full attendance is desired.

ELIZABETH M. EVANS, President.

Mrs. B. O. Leeper, Mrs. B. Peck, Mrs. Bradshaw, Mrs. G. W. Mapes, Mrs. J. B. Williams, Mrs. B. M. Curtis, Mrs. Nowatney and Mrs. Wills were departures for Wadsworth yesterday morning as delegates to the Bebekah Grand Lodge.

A Fish Story.

Major Monroe was relating some fish stories last evening to several friends, and giving his experiences in trolling on Pyramid lake, and in casting the fly on a number of mountain streams on the Pacific coast. As different ones in the party would recall some anecdote or incident in the course of conversation, the Major would go him one better by telling something that occurred to him of a similar character.

From trout the conversation turned, on mackerel, then cod, and so on, until Lake Erie white fish were touched upon, and the Major would always get there "with both feet." When the Lake Erie white fish was mentioned he stroked his beard a few times, and finally burst out:

"Well, I'll tell you, boys, about a remarkable thing that happened to me a few years ago. I was doing some surveying near Tahoe, and one day I thought I would try my luck. I went out on the lake, and, don't you know, after fishing for a while I caught a genuine Lake Erie white fish."

The party, with one voice, spoke up and said:

"What! In Tahoe?"

"Yes," the Major replied, "in Tahoe. Don't you fellows suppose I know what a Lake Erie white fish is when I see it?"

The party made no reply. The Major cast his eye over each individual in the gang, and, after a moment's hesitation, and a half-way compassionate look, said:

"I suppose you fellows think—well, I'm going home," and so the fish stories ended.

A Narrow Escape.

Misses Fannie and Amelia Wright, daughters of John Wright, had a narrow escape on Monday evening, caused by a horse they were driving becoming unmanageable, finally running away and overturning their buggy, throwing them violently to the ground. Miss Fannie escaped without serious injury and immediately hurried to the assistance of her sister who was lying unconscious in the road and blood flowing from her face and head. Believing that her sister was fatally injured she ran screaming towards her home and her brother immediately came to her assistance, and Miss Amelia was carried to the residence. A messenger was dispatched to town for a physician, and Dr. W. A. Phillips hurried to the ranch. He found the young lady badly injured and suffering from concussion of the brain. She had regained consciousness yesterday and was resting as easily as could be expected under the circumstances, but the seriousness of her injuries cannot be told for a day or two.

Twice Lanced by Physician and Cured by Hood's.

There is no form of Scrofula more obstinate or more common than swelling of the glands of the neck. But every form of blood disease yields to the potent powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla. Read the following from a grateful father:

"Our little boy when a little over a year old had three large bunches come on the left side of his neck. A physician lanced the bunches twice. He advised a blood medicine and we commenced giving our boy Hood's Sarsaparilla. He has taken four bottles. The bunches on his neck have disappeared and
